School Notes and News.

We much regret to record the death on June 6th of Mr. T. W. Freston, J.P., one of the representatives of Hulme's Trustees on the Board of Governors. He took a great interest in the school, and was present on several of our speech days. In 1895 he distributed the prizes, including three presented by himself to the highest boys in the Fifts, and delivered a very interesting address.

The honours list this year is a good one, with five honours degrees. J. Charnley and A. C. Timmis have taken first classes, the former closing a brilliant college course by winning the Gilchrist Travelling Scholarship; while the Dalton Mathematical and the Bradford History Scholarships have been gained, for the second time in each case, by Old Hulmeians.

E. O. Jago, Emmanuel College, Cambridge, has taken his B.A. degree with honours in the Historical Tripos.

Manchester University degrees and scholarships:—

M.A., Ernest Classen.

M.Sc., A. Ll. Allen, J. G. Bearn, J. Brentnall.

B.A., J. Charnley, with First Class Honours in Modern Languages and Literatures; L. Clarkson, with Second Class Honours in Modern Languages and Literatures.

B.Sc., A. C. Timmis, with First Class Honours in Engineering; D. C. Foster, with Third Class Honours in Mathematics; E. P. Gabbott.

Engineering Certificate, with honours, A. C. Timmis.

J. H. Nichol, Part I. of the Final M.B.; S. B. Turner, Intermediate in Law; W. T. Hurst, Intermediate B.A.; S. W. Jones, Honours Preliminary in History; G. A. Evans, Honours Preliminary in Mathematics; L. H. Cross, Honours Preliminary in Architecture.

S. W. Jones, Bradford History Scholarship of £35.

J. Charnley, Gilchrist Travelling Studentship of £80.

G. A. Evans, Dalton Mathematical Scholarship of £35.

D. Knoop, B.A., Warburton Essay Prize of £30, awarded for the best essay on "Municipal Trading."

H. Cardwell, Theodores Entrance Exhibition of £15 in Modern Languages.

In the Owens College sessional examinations, class prizes were taken by J. Charnley in English Literature (Final General), and English Language (Third Year Honours), and by S. W. Jones in Roman History, General History, and Constitutional History.

Manchester Education Committee: W. L. Marsland, Entrance Examination for Pupil Teachers; H. E. U. Budge, Bursary for Pupil Teacher Probationers; E. H. Livesley and H. Storey, Senior Secondary School Scholarships of £15 for two years, tenable at this school.

D. Knoop, B.A., Manchester, Gartside Scholar, has obtained an appointment in the Labour Department of the Board of Trade.

C. M. Mason has obtained First Team colours in the Manchester University Lacrosse Club.

A Philatelic Society has been formed in the School this term.

The Swimming Races will be held on Tuesday, July 30th.

P. Courtman has won a silver medal for coming in fifth in the King's cup life-saving competition, open to the world. The test is swimming a quarter mile in clothes, and pulling a man for another 40 yards through the water. Courtman was the youngest of the competitors by some years.

The Old Hulmeians Lacrosse Team was defeated by the Canadians by 8-0, but the game was very well contested, and no goal was scored in the first 35 minutes. The North of England flags are now hanging in the Central Hall, which we hope they will adorn for many years to come.

After the exhaustive inspection by the Board of Education in November last, it has not been considered necessary to hold the usual Midsummer Examination by examiners appointed by the Governors.

The School Prizes will be distributed on Prize Day by Edward Donner, Esq., chairman of the Board of Governors.

A cricket ball has been given to R. S. Watson for performing the "hat trick" for the First Eleven in the match against Salford Technical School on June 19th.

First Eleven Cricket Caps: A. L. Powell, F. F. Dawson, R. S. Watson, K. Mudie.

Our thanks are due to the following contributors of School news: G. F. Simpson, R. E. Livesley, S. Dickinson, H. Francis, F. Powell-Jones, P. Dorrington, and to the cricket scorers, H. Cardwell, F. M. Buck, J. Hewitt.

We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the Whalley Range High School Magazine, Leodiensian, Pincerna, and Portmuthian.

Old Hulmeians can subscribe to the Hulmeian by sending one shilling annually to Mr. J. A. Barber or Mr. Hewlett at the School. The three numbers will be sent post free, as they appear in December, April, and July.

Michaelmas Term will begin on Tuesday, September 17th, at nine o'clock, and the Entrance and Scholarship Examination for new boys on Monday, September 16th, at nine o'clock.

BIRTHS.

COPINGER.—On April 26th, at 186, Ayres Road, Old Trafford, the wife of C. A. D. B. Copinger (Copingers, Ltd.), of a daughter.

RAILTON.—On July 17th, at Plemont, West Didsbury, the wife of Cecil C. Railton, a son.

SAXELBY.—On July 16th, at Church End, Finchley, London, to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Saxelby, a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

THORPE—GRIFFITHS.—On April 30th, at Chorlton Road Congregational Church, Walter, eldest son of Councillor William Thorpe, Old Trafford and Sandheyes, Ashton-on-Mersey, to Florence, eldest daughter of W. L. Griffiths, Old Trafford.

ALLEN—JACKSON.—On July 17th, at the Palatine Road Congregational Church, Cyril James, son of J. Fenwick Allen and Mrs. Allen, of Whalley Range, to Ada Higginson, eldest daughter of Robert W. Jackson and Mrs. Jackson, of Withington.

MCGAFFIN—DIERDORF.—On July 11th, at the Church of St. Maria, Cologne, Joseph Harold, second son of W. M. McGaffin, of Manchester, to Mira, daughter of Alloys Dierdorf, of Cologne.

Grindelwald in Winter.

A deep silence broods over the Alps in winter, similar, it is said, to the unbroken calm of the Arctic regions, when the ear strains in vain to catch the slightest murmur. The same mantle of white is cast over the land, bright and dazzling in the sunshine, gleaming eerily in the twilight or under a crescent moon. Stars shine in the deep sapphire blue of the sky with a brilliance unknown in lands where the atmosphere is permeated with fog or misty vapours. The rivers flow through the higher valleys with a thick covering of treacherous black ice.

In one of these valleys the village of Grindelwald lies, enclosed by towering mountains, famous in the annals of the Alpine Club, the three-peaked Wetterhorn, the Mettenberg, and the Eiger. But in the winter none but the foolhardy would attempt to scale their heights. It is not for this that hundreds of English visitors come to a scattered village, nearly 30 hours' journey from London, where the sun never comes for several days round the winter solstice. The reason can be summed up in one word of magic import to Anglo-Saxon peoples,

"Sport." Though other places may boast wider expanses for skating, slopes better adapted for ski-running, longer and steeper toboggan runs, Grindelwald possesses every attraction in a high if not in a superlative degree.

Once "discovered," her quaint, deep-eaved châlets began to be dwarfed by giant hotels, at whose feet long glass-like sheets of ice nestle confidently. From morning to night they present one perpetual scene of bustle and animation. Diffident beginners crawl, or rather stagger, round the edge, falling, now into the bank of frozen snow, now on the unyielding surface of the rink. One, more venturesome than the rest, strikes boldly out, disdaining stick or chair back. Nearer the centre many forms flit by, almost too quickly for us to examine and criticise them. But the Englishman cannot be mistaken. Stiff and erect, he glides through the swift-moving crowds like some great bird sailing, as though motionless, down the wind. What a contrast he presents to the foreigner, who skims by with an easy, swaying motion! Always graceful, whether he is threading the intricacies of the "grape-vine" or taking part in more formal combined figures. From the very centre of the rink four men, without any apparent effort, dart forth to its uttermost ends with lightning speed. A sharp turn, and they are off at a tangent. They meet again in the centre, and the same process is repeated with innumerable variations. Those who aspire to this honour practise circles, "eights," and "threes" with great diligence, if not success, in some secluded part of the rink.

But it is late afternoon, and the bandy (ice hockey) players have arrived. All must give way to their furious rushes and rallies. Now they attack this goal in full force, now that. But as a deep rosy glow steals over the mountains they, too, leave the rink, and in their stead an army of men appear, armed with brooms, to sweep the ice and flood it for the next day.

Sometimes the rink is almost deserted. Everyone has collected on one of the long steep snow-slopes. About its centre a wooden platform has been built out, covered with thick snow, well beaten down. From above it has the appearance of rising sharply, and from below the drop to the ground seems tremendous. Two long rows of people line up on either side, for there is going to be a ski-jumping competition. A buzz of conversation rises into the keen, intoxicating air. Distracted officials run hither and thither, waving back the surging crowds. A pistol report, and a deep silence ensues. Photographers glue their eyes on their cameras, awaiting the critical moment. Those who are wise, however, prefer their eyes and memories to sensitive plates, as records of impressions. They alone see the vision of a man, supported on narrow strips of seasoned ash, some 6ft. long, flash by in a cloud of snow, crouching almost on the ground, then gradually straighten himself as he rushes up the platform. A second's interval, and he is gliding down the remainder of the slope, or half buried in the deep snow where he fell. Officials hasten up and mark where he first touched the ground. Perhaps it is 30ft., 40ft., or even 50ft. that he has cleared. But the course is again formed, and so the stream of competitors continues through the afternoon.

Another day there are toboggan races, or the Bear Hotel run, perhaps, when men fly head first down a gulley of thick ice, on light steel or wooden frames, at a speed rivalling that of an express train.

For some two months this life continues, but towards the middle of February the warm south-west wind blows up the valley, thick mists gather, and the thaw reigns supreme. Those who remain speak of the coming of spring in a single day, when the roads are dried as though by magic, and the slopes are green with fresh young grass. Through spring and early summer they are gay with flowers, but the fierce July sun scorches them dry and bare. And now many travellers toil through the valley, tortured by the heat and flies. If these lines meet the eye of such a one, he will not wonder that I have chosen to speak of Grindelwald in winter and not in summer.

The Plays.

BY THE BACK ROW.

It is not often that nightfall finds a throng of guests in the hall and corridors of our school. Usually, before half an hour has elapsed from the echo of the last bat-stroke on the cricket field, the red old pile—it is older than most of us—is wrapped in silence. But the evenings of May 14th and 15th were an exception to the rule. The occasion was the performance of two plays by the boys—"La Grammaire," by Labiche and Jolly, and "Vice-Versa," an adaptation of Anstey's well-known book.

While the plays were in preparation, circumstances over which we had no control necessitated numerous changes in the casts, some of them at the eleventh hour, and we must congratulate the boys who took part on the success with which these difficulties were overcome. In both plays the acting was excellent, and the clearness and accuracy of the dialogue in the French play deserve special notice.

It is rather invidious to pick out individual parts for comment where all was so good, but we cannot help recalling a few. W. Trees was very true to nature in the part of the garçon, Jean, who hides his broken crockery under the turf at the bottom of the garden. We quite sympathised with him when the family cow developed a fatal appetite for broken decanters, and when the antiquarian Poitrinas unearthed from under the apricot tree the bits of salad bowl which Jean had concealed in his apron so successfully in the first scene. But Jean is equal to the occasion, and joins with Poitrinas in assuring his master, Caboussat, that the fragments are of Roman origin.

M. Poitrinas was delightfully rendered by G. F. Simpson, and so was Caboussat by A. L. Powell. One of the most amusing scenes in the piece was that in which the professor and his host cut their respective fingers. The professor is trimming a quill pen, and cuts his finger by accident. Being disabled, he insists on Caboussat writing for him. Poor Caboussat is in dire straits, for he cannot spell, and if Poitrinas find this out how can he ever hold his head up again? Then a brilliant idea occurs to him. He takes his courage in both hands, falls to trimming his own quill, and cuts his finger too.

They were not all quite such knaves as Jean, but we fear no one was quite what he professed to be. Even the vet., Machut (H. Francis), bleeds a perfectly healthy horse, and winks at Jean's crockery pit. Blanche, well rendered by N. Rowbotham, is the only one with whom we have no account to settle. The little tricks she plays are all for her father's sake. She is true to her lover, even when she finds he cannot spell, and when her unselfishness brings to an end at last the want of concord among them, they all join in accepting her as the Family Grammar.

The most noteworthy feature of the English play, "Vice-Versa," was the dramatic ability shown by J. S. Haley as Dick Bultitude's Body. He lived the part; and W. Dorrington was also very good, first in the pompous capacity of Paul Bultitude, colonial produce merchant, of Mincing Lane, and later, when, inhabited by Dick's Spirit, he plans experiments in toffee-making with Eliza, quarrels with "Old Shells," and comes down in an absurd combination of school cap and frock coat to gloat over his poor old father's misery at school. The success of these scenes was due in no small measure to the acting of several other members of the cast. Gresty deserves mention for his rendering of poor, ill-used Mr. Shellack, whose jolly old head all but gets punched; and the part of Eliza could hardly have been better done than it was by E. H. Livesley.

In the second act, R. C. F. Dodgson as Dr. Grimstone exactly hit off the severe dignity of his part, and our only surprise was to find the doctor's daughter, Dulcie (H. Palmer), such a romp. She was quite able to hold her own, and her game of cross-purposes with the supposed Dick was very comic. Nor must we forget the cabby, Clegg (B. Browning), with his delightful, albeit mercenary indignation at Dick's contempt for parental authority; or the boys, among whom Tipping and Chawner (T. Taylor and W. Alley) were the most conspicuous. The pleasure of the first night was much enhanced by the kindness of the Rebec Orchestra, who gave some selections during the evening, under Mr. Walter Mudie's conductorship.

The rehearsals and management of the plays were in the hands of Mr. Morley and Mr. Hewlett for the French play; Mr. Kelsey, Mr. Salisbury, and Mr. Tristram for "Vice-Versa"; Mr. Dorrans was in charge of the erection of stage and scenery; and Mr. Franklin was secretary and treasurer.

CRICKET NOTES.

Had the "Cricket Notes" been written only a week earlier, we should have felt compelled to preface them with an apology for their untimeliness. We have, however, now had one real cricket day, and so we may perhaps be allowed to assume that the 1907 cricket season has begun. The absence of good weather has not affected our matches with other schools as much as might have been imagined, but it has interfered very sadly with the Form matches and sides-games which are wont to be played after school.

At a meeting of the Games Committee, Simpson, who was the only boy with First Eleven colours still at school, was elected captain, and Powell vice-captain of the first team. Livesley, R.E., was appointed captain of the second. Our opening matches were played against Salford Technical Institute on April 24th. The second team won, somewhat luckily perhaps; the first team were beaten rather badly. It was evident that they lacked batting strength, and more especially confidence, and a win at this time would have done something to remedy this deficiency. In this match also the School bowling was "collared," but it is pleasant to note that this was the only occasion on which this happened. The return match was distinctly interesting. The School batted first, and scraped together 28 runs, 19 of which were obtained by Dawson, who carried out his bat. Our opponents lost nine wickets for 11 runs. The last wicket, however, made a stand, and carried the total to 26. Watson did the hat trick, having also taken two wickets with two consecutive balls earlier in the innings. Altogether, he took eight wickets for 12 runs. Our matches with St. Bede's were somewhat disappointing, the home match being drawn, and the return abandoned on account of the weather. The match against the Old Boys' team was one of the most enjoyable games of the season. In the first place the day was perfect, and the match was only decided on the last stroke of time. At the time of writing the Parents' match has still to be played. The best performance by the First Eleven was that of beating Whalley Range Second by two wickets and 64 runs.

Up to the present the first team has won 6, drawn 2, and lost 6, three matches having been abandoned. The second team has so far won 6, drawn 4, and lost 2. Throughout the season the bowling has been good. Powell and Watson have constituted our main attack. Dawson and Stone have also been very useful in this respect. The batting improved steadily during the season. Dawson has batted very consistently, and has been the mainstay of the team in more than one match. Mudie also has been a useful run-getter. During the season, Dawson, Mudie, Powell, and Watson received first eleven caps.

The team as a whole has been keen in the field. One noticeable feature has been the absence of appeals from the bowlers, which says much for the spirit in which they play the game. This year has again confirmed the experience of former years as regards the value of the Third, Fourth, and Under 14 teams. They contain the First and Second Elevens in the making, and so long as the boys in the junior teams are keen and sportsmanlike, we need have no fear for the future of the School cricket.

The Third Eleven have played 11 matches, winning 4 and losing 7. Dickinson, S., has been captain, and has kept wicket well. In batting, Nesbitt, C. M., Lea, W., Hurst, J. H., Clarke, J. H., and Till, T., have done well, while Knight, H. H., has captured 44 wickets for 90 runs and Cox, W. H., and Sutton, L., have been useful bowlers. The following have also played: Millington, H., Clay, W., Trees, W., Needham, O. S.

The Fourth have played seven matches, winning 1 and losing 4. Captain, Francis, H. Team selected from: Duffy, A., Duffy, K., Robinson, F. (wicket-keeper), Goodwin, T. F., Budge, H. E., Hudson, D. R., Oldham, F. W., Livesley, E. H., Dunbar, W., Cooper, C. E., Sutton, V., Van der Veen, G. M., Champness, J. B., Robinson, M., Rheade, A. Dunbar and Oldham have done most of the bowling.

The Under 14 have played 8, winning 5 and losing 3. Captain, Powell-Jones, F. A. G., who has bowled well. Whitcombe, S., and Baines, G., have done well with both bat and ball. Mather, R., has kept wicket and batted well, and the following have also played: Taylor, D. G., Stewart, A., Thornley, P. R., Williamson, E., Simcock, E., Travis, E.

The Under 14 Second Eleven have been captained by Dorrington, P., and have played 6 matches, of which 1 has been won and 5 lost. Tristram, A., and Cruse, W., have batted well. Eccles, E., and Murphy, C. W., have done best with the ball. The following have also played: Blamey, G. A. (wicket-keeper), Dawson, T. E., Pigott, E., Cooper, H., Hamer, H., Sandiford, F. G., Humphries, C., Jamgochian, N., Nash, R., Johnson, B., Bignold, H. A., Palmer, C. W., Hawkins, A.

The Form Match Competition has been well contested, and is not yet concluded. Latin III. and II. did very well to knock out a strong Lower Modern IV. team, and defeated in the semi-final Classical V. IV.; they meet Mod. V. IV. in the final.

C. S. Baker has made some fine scores for Warwickshire this season, chief of which was one of 105 against Worcestershire. He made 55 against Surrey, 49 and 48 against Hants, and has an average of 31·3 in first-class cricket.

In local cricket J. H. Wright has been scoring well for Chorlton-cum-Hardy, and F. B. Turner has joined the company of Old Hulmeians in Whalley Range Club. The following scores may be mentioned:—

CHARACTERS OF THE FIRST ELEVEN.

SIMPSON, G. F. (captain).—Has captained the team through a trying season. A very useful bat, and safe and keen in the field.

POWELL, A. L. (vice-captain).—Perhaps the best bowler we have, taking most of the wickets. A good fielder in any position. Has played one good innings.

DAWSON, F. F.—The best bat on the team; hits well, and has on several occasions turned a likely defeat into victory. A smart catch.

WATSON, R. S.—A steady, reliable bat; won the victory for us at Warrington. One of the best bowlers, and a good fielder.

MUDIE, K.—Has improved much of late, and played several fine innings. Has met with considerable success as wicket-keeper.

STONE, W. M.—Has met with but little success with the bat, but is a smart cover-point and good change bowler.

BANKS, S. R.—Has been mostly unfortunate with the bat. Is a safe catch, and a good thrower.

FLETCHER, N.—A good bat, but lacking in strength. Quick in the field.

CARDWELL, D.—Bats in a peculiar style, but has managed to keep his end up well. A keen fielder, but weak at throwing in.

HARRISON, N. R. J.—Only played in a few matches, but has shown remarkable control over the ball. A fair fielder.

CHORLTON, J. S.—Hits out with great energy at all balls alike. Has on several occasions been found wanting in the field.

LEVY, W. H.—A fair fielder, but decidedly weak in batting. A good change bowler.

CHARACTERS OF THE SECOND ELEVEN

LIVESLEY, R. E. (captain).—Has captained the team with success. A good field and change bowler, but has been rather unlucky with the bat.

ROBERTS, T. H.—Has met with success with the ball, but has not done much at batting.

SHAW, H.—Has done well as wicket-keeper, and made several useful scores.

WOLFENDALE, L.—One of the best bats in the team, but should be sharper in the field. A change bowler.

SHAWCROSS, J.—A consistent batter, and has done some good work as a change bowler.

BRADBURY, A.—Has done good service with ball, and batted well at times.

NEEDHAM, H. S.—A good field, but has been very unfortunate with the bat.

FRASER, R. A.—A steady bat, and has fielded well at point.

GOULDING, J. B.—A fair field, and has bowled well, but his batting is very slow.

HARRISON, C.—A promising bat, and has fielded well at times.

v. SALFORD TECHNICAL SCHOOL.

June 19th, on their ground. Won. A very curious match, played on a treacherous wicket. For us Dawson played very pluckily, making 19 out of 28. Watson's bowling completely beat our opponents, who lost 9 wickets for 11 runs. though a stand for the tenth brought them to 2 runs behind us. Watson did the hat trick, and took 8 wickets for 12.
