

Overview	Every RE lesson begins with a low stakes quiz, with 5 questions relating directly to the knowledge organiser, and 4 questions recalling knowledge from previous learning. Students are expected to do this from memory. The lesson then begins with a recap of the 'story so far' for students to keep the big picture in mind and see the connections within the curriculum. Teachers may wish to cold call students planned questions and address any misconceptions as they arise. Students should then be introduced to the new content in small steps. This may include dual coding keywords/concepts with testing students ability to use them through application in sentences, exploring paintings and understanding their meaning etc. Students should be reading at length as much as possible within RE and teachers should be helping students decode the text for comprehension and meaning. This can be done through guided, annotated reading in which students are questioned throughout on the analysis of terms as well as the meaning of the text as a whole. Students should complete activities that demonstrate their understanding of a text i.e. using 'because', 'but', 'so' writing strategies for comprehension. Writing tasks should be effectively modelled within a lesson and students should be expected to use subject-specific terminology throughout their extended writing, with reference to knowledge organisers within lessons as well as keywords being displayed.
